Madison County

Located in southwestern Montana, Madison County is Montana’s 32nd most populous with 5,989 residents, according to the 1990 Census.

Virginia City, the county seat, is the state’s 118th largest city with a population of 142. Madison County was established in 1865. According to the Montana almanac, the Madison River was named by Lewis and Clark in honor of James Madison who was then U.S. Secretary of State. Virginia City was the state’s first town incorporated in 1864. It was famous for its gold fields. The city was first named Varina in honor of Confederacy President Jefferson Davis’s spouse. Unionist and local judge, G. G. Bissell changed it to Virginia.

Historical enthusiasts, with the help of the Montana State Legislature, the State of Montana, residents of Virginia City, the Virginia City Preservation Alliance and other groups, are working to preserve the landmarks created in Virginia and Nevada cities for future generations.

According to the U.S. Bureau of the Census, median income for Madison County households in 1989 was $22,066. The county is 3,602.9 square miles in area; 3,586.6 square miles in land area and 16.3 in inland water area.

County residents experience the four distinct seasons. According to the Western Regional Climate Center, average monthly temperatures in Virginia City, for example, range from a low of 11.1 degrees above in January to a high of 80.5 above in July. The annual average precipitation is 15.61 inches.
